Fine Arts building construction virtually assured with low bid

Construction of a new multi-million dollar fine arts building for the West Texas State University campus was virtually assured Thursday as bids for the project came in well over 10 percent below architects' estimates.

Reid and Gary Strickland Construction Co. of Amarillo was apparent low bidder for the project with a bid of $2,683,900 including 12 alternates.

If furnishings, related equipment, and various fees cost approximately what Wood and Associates of Dallas, architects, have estimated, the total building would cost the university $3,669,900.

That price would be well under the projected cost of $4,283,936 as estimated by the architectural firm.

The Strickland bid was one of 14 opened and tallied by university officials Thursday afternoon in a crowded university lecture hall.

University regents must now act on the bid, either accepting or rejecting the proposal, before the actual construction can begin.

Furnishings, fees for architects, testing and surveys, and a contingency fund will add $986,000 to the base bid price of the structure.

The bid total along with the alternatives and furnishings and related fees is 15 percent lower than the estimated total, or about $348,000 below the architects' projection.

Dr. Lloyd I. Watkins, university president, said Thursday the university had about $4.2 million available for the construction project, some of which is made available through a bond issue.

He and Dr. John Green, dean of the School of Fine Arts, expressed enthusiasm that the prices submitted Thursday were far below the anticipated costs.

"You bet we're happy," Watkins grinned.

Regents are tentatively scheduled to meet Saturday, but the actual time and place of the session have yet to be announced.

In addition to the base building bid, contractors Thursday submitted bids for 12 alternates. The alternates, if included in the final project by regents, would add to the structure wood veneer in the recital hall, a folding partition, the closing of one university street and addition of sidewalks, construction of an outdoor amphitheatre, the addition of quarry tile in the lobby and a student art gallery, an additional catwalk and lights in the theatre, additional lockers, cabinets and shelving, an interior natural gas system, a compressed air system, and an acid waste system.

In their bid, the Strickland firm submitted a price of $2,412,000 for the base project. The firm bid $27,500 for the wood veneer; $15,000 for the folding partition; $28,500 for paving; $37,000 for the outdoor theatre; $14,500 for the quarry tile; $5,800 for the catwalk; $9,800 for vinyl wallcoverings; $3,800 for wood flooring; $81,500 for cabinets; $2,000 for gas lines; $4,000 for the air system; and $42,500 for recital hall lighting.

Other bidders and their total prices, including alternates, were: Area Builders, $3,027,750; Belco Const. Co., $2,708,300; Herman Bennett Co., $2,891,500; Wiley Hicks, Jr., $3,068,000; David M. Hunt Const. Co., $2,975,900; Avery Mays Const. Co., $2,983,500; Page & Wirtz Const. Co., $2,861,789; Panhandle Engineering and Contractors, $2,816,650; Ramey Const. Co., $2,907,700; Spaw Glass, Inc., $2,847,400; Stokes Const. Co., $2,751,542; Texas Olson Const. Co., $3,144,760; Waco Const. Co., $3,149,900.

While a portion of the funding for the building will come from issuance of bonds, a significant amount was donated by local citizens, and the Moody Foundation of Galveston also allocated funds for the new structure.

The new building is slated to have classroom facilities for the art, drama, music and speech departments of the university. In addition, it will have performing facilities for the various arts also. Planning for the building has been a three-year project.

Committee backs board on annex

Sound Financing Committee members Thursday night backed away from a stand on the controversial issue of school lands annexation and voted to back the Canyon school board in whatever decision the board makes.

The committee, a citizens group of about 30 persons, voted unanimously to adopt a resolution proposed by a subcommittee chaired by Mrs. Earl Reynolds.

The resolution vows that "the committee go on record that we back the school board in whatever efforts they believe necessary to resolve the annexation problem."

In passing the resolution, the committee rejected a suggestion tendered a week ago by a subcommittee headed by Joe Gidden that the local district cede to Amarillo school district school lands to the south and southwest of Amarillo.

That subcommittee had gone on record with the following statement: "We feel the two communities in Randall County should work together to promote the opportunities for best serving the school-age residents of this county in a peaceable, cooperative manner. This would mean, in our opinion, to cede the property, immediately west and southwest of the Amarillo Independent School District, and to build adequate facilities for present needs and some future growth in the Canyon Independent School District."

Passage of the Reynolds subcommittee recommendation was the last act of the committee before adjourning Thursday night, and it came after earlier indications that the committee might not consider involvement in the annexation controversy.

Committee chairman Jay Wooten had told committee members earlier in the meeting he was not sure the committee had jurisdiction over the problem.

"We're not seriously considering the 11-section annexation and probably won't," he said. "I'm not sure it's in our jurisdiction. The news media are most interested in this."

To the people of the two committees this is the lesser problem."

Nevertheless, apparently parents from the north portion of the county were expecting some action on the proposals.

The committee room was packed by more than 30 parents from the Gene Howe Elementary School area.

In other business, the committee also passed on a vote of 16-

4 a recommendation from the Gidden subcommittee that the present tax value be hiked from 40 percent to 100 percent with a concurrent lowering of the tax rate to provide full funding for annual school operating expense.

The committee rejected a proposal from the Reynolds subcommittee that the tax value be hiked only from 40 percent to 60 percent.

Currently, school taxes are figured on a formula of $1.92 per $100 valuation on 40 percent of valuation.

School Financial Advisor Bob Davis of Columbia Securities Corporation told the committee a month ago that unless the tax value figure was hiked considerably the school district would not be able to issue more than $4.5 million in bonds for new school construction. School officials have indicated the cost of new schools may be closer to $6 million.

Davis recommended the value figure be raised to the 100 percent level.

While no vote was taken on the subject, the committee generally agreed that the school board should instruct its tax office to update tax formulas used to figure school property valuations so the formulas reflect true 1975 market values.

The formulas were last updated in 1966, according to School Supt. Jerry Jacobs.

During the Thursday night session, Jacobs provided the committee information on how much tax money could be raised should the school board decide to tax household furnishings. He said only about $22,600 would be available through a furniture

Fuqua offer may not be enough Keeling says of $100,000 bid

The amount of money Amarillo developers are willing to pay to get their land into the Amarillo school district emerged Thursday as what may be a controlling factor in the minds of Canyon school board members as they consider allowing de-annexation of school property.

And, at least for Board President Tom Keeling, the $100,000 offered Thursday afternoon to the Canyon district by an Amarillo developer in exchange for a section of South Amarillo property may not be a high enough figure.

"In all likelihood we would want more money," Keeling said following the Thursday session.

Schools Supt. Jerry Jacobs and other members of a special board committee to study land annexations indicated following the meeting they feel not only that accepting money from developers in exchange for annexation approval is appropriate, but that it should also be a profitable enterprise.

Emmet Fuqua of Quien Sabe Investment Corp. of Amarillo offered the district the $100,000 if they would give their blessing to the de-annexation of about 650 acres of land west of Coulter Road and south of Amarillo High in South Amarillo to the Amarillo school district.

Fuqua, saying he also represented June Davis and B. R. Barfield at the meeting, urged the special committee to consider not only his flat dollar offer, but to also adopt a special formula to figure how much money Amarillo developers will have to pay in the future to reimburse the Canyon district for alleged loss of tax revenue.

He also proposed the Canyon board appoint members to serve on a special joint committee together with Amarillo school board members to keep abreast of land annexation problems and probabilities.

Following the meeting, Fuqua said if the Canyon board would give its assent to the de-annexation procedures, he would immediately put up the $100,000 and submit a petition for annexation to the Amarillo district to the Randall County Board of School Trustees for action.

But, he said he will not pursue the de-annexation through the petition method until the Canyon and Amarillo boards agree on

For Caballero appeal

Open hearing set for Sept. 25

A formal and open hearing on the appeal of Dr. Emilio Caballero, controversial art department head at West Texas State University, will be Sept. 25, a hearing committee decided Thursday.

Dr. Charles Smallwood, chairman of the group, said no time has yet been set for the hearing, but it will probably begin in the morning.

He said Caballero, who contends he was forced to resign as department head last spring against his will, has formally asked for the hearing to be open to the public.

Caballero confirmed that the hearing will be open Thursday, but declined to reveal his answers to specific charges leveled against his administrative abilities recently by University President Lloyd I. Watkins.

The university professor said he has prepared his formal written answers to Watkins' charges, charges made public by Caballero more than a week ago, but would make them public only during the hearing.

In other action Thursday, the hearing committee met with George Whittenburg, Caballero's Amarillo attorney.

Smallwood said Whittenburg challenged the membership of Dr. Horace Bailey on the committee. Bailey, head of the university biology department, is an untenured faculty member.

But, Smallwood said, the committee voted to refuse to unseat Bailey as requested.

Watkins has not challenged any members of the committee, while Caballero last week challenged membership of Dr. Robert Sawvell, geography department head, and Dr. Ted Freidell, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. Sawvell and Freidell were removed from the special committee as a result of the challenges.

Now, the committee consists of Smallwood, Dr. Dan White, ac-

DA agrees on junk parole idea; prof. says Curtis proposal 'silly'

Randall County Dist. Atty. Randall Sherrod joined Potter County Dist. Atty. Tom Curtis Friday in suggesting the state junk its parole system, but both prosecutors drew fire locally from an attorney-professor who has been directly involved in parole systems.

Dr. Brent T. Lynch, who heads West Texas State University's criminal justice program and who is chairman of the certification board for the Texas Corrections Association, termed Curtis' proposal "silly."

Curtis had reportedly told Amarillo Rotarians Thursday the current parole system for criminals should be junked and offenders should serve straight prison time set by a judge and not a jury.

Sherrod told The News Friday he likewise believes the current parole system is ineffective and should be discarded in favor of a system mandating that convicted criminals serve a full term as set by judge or jury.

"If they (criminals) get eight years, they should do eight years," Sherrod said.

He said the current system, which allows prisoners good time and early parole, encourages game-playing with offenders merely acting the part of good prisoners in order to gain release. He said, too, that the current system, which provides that if a felon is assessed six years to do in prison by a jury, he can be freed on parole in only two years, also encourages potential criminals to weigh the punishment with the potential crime to determine whether the risk involved is worth it.

Curtis backed a system which also would make a prisoner serve all the time mandated by judge or jury upon conviction.

Lynch, who served as staff director of the board of pardons and paroles for the State of Utah before coming to WTSU, said Curtis' and Sherrod's suggestion would, in effect, turn felons loose on the public without supervision.

"The public deserves better protection," he said.

The problem with the current parole system, Lynch said, is not inherent in the philosophy of parole, but is a problem of manpower.

He said the Panhandle of Texas is now served by only four parole officers to supervise the activities of ex-convicts in the area.

He cited figures released recently by a state official indicating the rate of recidivism — or those who return to prison for offenses committed while on parole — is about 25 percent.

"If they get 75 percent success rate on parole they've got a successful parole system," he said.

Besides that, Lynch said, without a parole system Texas penitentiaries would be overcrowded and costly.

He said there are now 17,000 prisoners in penal institutions in Texas and each prisoner costs about $7.9 per day to care for.

Bufs take Birds for first win

Beaumont, Tex. — Bruce Wyre kicked a 35-yard field goal and the crucial extra point conversion to provide the margin for West Texas State's first win of the 1975 football season, a 10-6 decision of the Lamar Cardinals here Saturday night.

Wyre's conversion capped an Eddie Richardson plunge for 1 yard midway through the first period with WT's only touchdown, and his field goal with 5:32 left in the first quarter came after Freshman Dick Hays had given the Bufs excellent field position at the Lamar 24.

Lamar scored its only touchdown also in the first period on a 2-yard run by Darrell McDonald. It was set up when Bufs' Tommy Mills and Scott Wiley mishandled a punt giving Lamar the ball on the Buff 32.

For the final three periods, however, neither team could add to their scoreboard totals.

Twice in the second half West Texas State mistakes gave Lamar the football deep in Buff territory, but each time the Bufs defense stiffened as Lamar's Jabo Leonard missed long field goal attempts.

Freddie Turner led the WT offensive attack by netting 43 yards on 12 rushes and catching a 42-yard pass from Tully Blanchard that set up Richardson's touchdown.

The team statistics were almost even with Lamar holding a 13-10 edge in first downs and a one-yard advantage 227-226 in total offense.

Young Ricardo Valdez, 11, of Canyon, was a happy boy last week as he received a new slot car and radio, gifts from local merchants. Valdez, who suffers terminal leukemia, is object of a fund-raising campaign in the city. See story on page 3.

County is awaiting city fire approval

Randall County officials were still waiting late Friday for a formal and specific proposal from Amarillo city commissioners on a rural fire fighting contract.

Commissioners returned from a joint meeting with the Amarillo officials and Potter County commissioners held last Wednesday, optimistic a workable plan would be adopted as suitable to all entities.

Amarillo City Manager, John Stiff, rejected Wednesday a Randall County rural fire plan, already in effect in areas of the county outside the City of Amarillo.

He offered instead an alternative proposal which would see the city charge Randall County $10,000 per year for the city's fire units to answer rural type fires. Currently, Amarillo charges a flat $801 per call to answer rural fire calls outside the city limits.

Demanding payment for land questionable

There's something about seeing the Canyon school board continually upping the ante a developer must put up to have his South Amarillo land taken into the Amarillo School District that sticks in the throat.

While some local school board members contend it is only good business to require developers like Emmett Fuqua of Quien Sabe Investment Corporation to pay up to and more than $100,000 to the district to gain board approval for de-annexation of the land, we question the assumption on which such a deal is made.

Fuqua has offered the $100,000 to the district if they will assent to allowing his 650 acres to be annexed by Amarillo and taken from the Canyon school district.

He makes his offer on the basis that the $100,000 will compensate the Canyon district for potential loss of tax revenue the district might receive over the next decades from the 650 acre tract. The tract now produces about $750 per year in tax money for the Canyon school district.

Canyon school board members must know, because the figures have been made available and have been published, that if they rid themselves of the 650 acres Fuqua wants, they will have rid themselves of a future tax burden and will not have lost, in reality, any tax monies.

Local tax office personnel recently compiled a document which shows how much tax money would have to be generated by a piece of property for that piece of property to pay for education of children.

A 640-acre tract of land with the kind of development now visible in Puckett Place in Amarillo — that is land with houses, schools, parks, churches, shopping centers and businesses and apartments — was used to figure the comparisons.

At the current tax rate — and even if taxes were hiked through a revaluation of property and through a hike in the percentage of valuation taxed — the local taxes which would come from such a tract, would pay for education of the tract's children only if the homes in the tract were in the $50,000 to $60,000 range.

A tract of the lower priced homes, under the current tax system, or the tax system were it upgraded and valuations hiked substantially, would simply not pay for itself.

Thus, like it or not, the Canyon school board with Fuqua as a willing victim, is playing a kind of extortion. Demanding to be paid for a highly questionable loss.

Making developers pay high prices to convince the school board to allow them to transfer their land to Amarillo also appears to make a mockery of the avowed central concern of the Canyon school board — the children who will be involved.

In this purely business-like transaction, the welfare of the children is forgotten, and not just by the developers but also by the school board. When the money to be gained overrides good judgement, the welfare of the children can only suffer.

If the Canyon board does not want to give up its lands because it feels a better job of educating children can be done in Canyon schools, that is one thing. But, if it does not want to give up its lands because the price is not high enough, that is another. The latter is an attitude to be condemned. — C.W.

Museum director doing good job

Dr. James Hanson, with dry wit and a penchant for historical detail, is to be congratulated for an impressive revitalization of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum.

One of the best museums in the Southwest when Hanson assumed its directorship two years ago, the local artifact center is on its way to more than regional fame.

The transformation of that portion of the museum which has undergone Hansonization is remarkable.

The story of the Panhandle, for example, is told through artifacts and colorful displays in the central room of the original museum building. As one Houston Post travel writer said recently as he toured the museum, "This is just fantastic."

With a bit of dignified promotion, the museum this past summer drew a record number of visitors, a fact which should cheer tourist-conscious merchants.

We look forward to other Hanson innovations. He's doing a good job. — C.W.

The numbers game

End of the World is Near Department: Females now outnumber men in the State of Texas, according to researchers at Texas A&M.

According to the researchers, in 1970 there were 200 women for every 95 men in the state, and population projections predict that by 1980 females will outnumber males by 410,000.

Historically, the male-female ratio has been close, but up to 1960 men always outnumbered women. Not so anymore and probably not so in the future.

According to Dr. R. L. Skrabanek of A&M, a big factor in the ratio switch is due to the longer life expectancy of females. In Texas, for example, the female will outlive her male counterpart by an average of eight years, compared to three years in 1900. The number of widows in the state has increased to 495,000 in the last 10 years and the number of widowers has decreased to 100,000 in the same period.

While male chauvinists would recognize immediately what such figures indicate, Skrabanek outlines a few of the changes we might expect here in Texas.

A large share of the state's wealth is controlled by women who have survived their spouses, he notes. And, the margin by which women outnumber men in the voting ages (18 and over) more than doubled during the past decade, from 146,000 to 304,000. This means, of course, that politicians in the future, more likely to be women than men, will also be more likely to legislate with the women in mind.

Now's the time to make peace with your wife. — C.W.

City Desk

By CARROLL WILSON

While the ordinary citizen undoubtedly recognizes he must answer for his mistakes, there is a strange suspension of accountability when citizens join into groups.

Individual citizens ordinarily

Our World

BY ANN BROWN

The basic cause of every crime, from petty shoplifting to a full-scale aggressive war, is somebody's desire to enjoy the fruits of another's labor — without paying for it.

If an individual takes the property of another without proper compensation, it is called stealing.

If a nation seizes the property of another nation, it is called war.

If the government takes the property of one citizen and gives it to another, it is called socialism.

Richard Hongisto, sheriff of San Francisco, was quoted in the Reporter of Vacaville, California, August 17, 1975, as saying to a group of prisoners that socialism is inevitable in America — and the world.

Hongisto declared that inequality and other social problems were connected directly with the capitalist economic system.

The free market is not perfect — nothing on this earth is; it is in-realize there will, at some time no matter how distant, be a time of reckoning. He tends to weigh carefully his decisions, managing his affairs responsibly and honestly.

The individual businessman realizes this, too, as he operates his store. If the business constantly runs in the red, he knows bankruptcy is inevitable.

If the citizen fails to pay his taxes, there will be results. If he fails to show up for work, he will lose his job. If he fails to pay his rent, he will be evicted.

This cause-and-effect relationship, though, suffers when government is concerned.

Because the buck never stops. No one, when pinned down in government, whether in the bureaucracy or the more political and public realm, is accountable.

Under the American system of things, the politician is to be held accountable in periodic elections. In only the direst instances, however, in the Watergates and the Sharpshooters, is he truly accountable.

the results of these and other potential horrors from the lack of accountability in the corporate structure of America, can be led through his fear to a rational yearning for stability, the kind of stability promised by totalitarian or authoritarian governments.

Socialism already here

States.

The "poverty neighborhoods" in our cities where billions of tax dollars have been poured are a good example of socialism. All they have produced to date are instant slums. Yet our government continues building more of the same.

After declaring the U.S. must change from capitalism to socialism, Hongisto urged the prison inmates to get involved in the movement for change.

"This struggle to improve society provides excellent opportunities for those who are getting released from prison," he said.

The sheriff was actually encouraging the prisoners to get out and persuade the government to do their stealing for them. Then instead of being punished as thieves, they would be praised as reformers.

Legal plunder will keep the thieves out of prison — true. But what about the people who get plundered?

When the farmer can no longer keep thieves, coyotes, and skunks out of his chickens — he quits raising chickens.

Russians enjoy all the blessings of socialism — including walls to keep them from running away; and if capitalist Americans didn't feed them, they would starve to death.

If we only had the sheriff of San Francisco and others like him preaching socialism as the solution to our problems, perhaps we could ignore them. It's our government practicing socialism that we can't ignore.

The graduated income tax, welfare, food stamps, federal housing, forced busing, bureaucratic rule, etc., are all socialism in practice.

For every American employed in private industry, there are 1 plus working for the government. That means more than 50 percent (much more because government employees get better salaries than private workers) of the worker's pay is legally plundered.

How long before the farmer quits raising chickens?

The bureaucrat is protected from this form of accountability. Owing his job tenure to a self-perpetuating system rather than job performance, he exists to protect his station.

Computers, someone in another office, regulations, red tape, all are blamed for errors in the system.

The perceptive citizen, who is accountable in his daily life, who is concerned about the future of himself and his family, concerned about the future of his country, feels helpless and adrift in a sea of irresponsibility.

He looks at the national debt, for example, and sees a mammoth accumulation of irresponsibilities. One scientist recently explained the national debt in a most understandable manner: "Start counting the seconds on a clock this minute, and equate each second with one dollar. Never stop day or night, never take the slightest breather for the next 11,000 days (a little more than 30 years). At the end of this time, you will have added up almost one billion dollars. If you had been born in 10,000 B.C., and at birth had started counting a dollar a second, day and night without letup, you would now still have another 3,865 years or so to go before you counted up all the dollars in the national debt — 528 billion."

Security becomes more needed than certain expendable freedoms.

The greatest danger to American democracy is posed today, not by the totalitarian governments across the oceans, but from a yearning for a grassroots totalitarianism from within individuals who demand accountability and responsibility.

But, the perceptive citizen sees that time may be running out for accountability to become a standard of performance.

David Ritter To Hold Recital

David Ritter, assistant professor of music at West Texas State University, will present a faculty trumpet recital at 3 p.m., Sept. 28, in the WTSU Branding Iron Theatre.

Accompanied by Judy Evans on piano, Ritter will perform "Sonata," by Purcell; "Sonata," Stevens; "Etude de Concert," Poot; and "Sonatine," Bozza.

Brass accompaniment on the Bozza number will be provided by Ken Barker, Richardson junior; Donna Saylor, Odessa graduate; Gary Mingus, Friona sophomore; and Paul Infanti, El Paso senior.

Other selections will include a Carole King tune, "The Way We Were," by Marvin Hamlisch and two original tunes by Ritter. He will be accompanied by a jazz combo composed of Bill Evans, WTSU faculty, on piano; Bart Edwards of Amarillo, bass; and Garner Fielding, band director at Fannin Junior High School in Amarillo, drums.

A graduate of North Texas State University in Denton, Ritter has taught for 10 years at WTSU and is director of the WTSU State Band and Brass Choir.

He plays first trumpet with the Amarillo Symphony and also plays professionally in the Panhandle area.

The Kitchen Sink

BY SUSAN WILSON

When we first got married, hubby brought home a whopping $40 per week and I didn't work and since we didn't have the kids, the $40 was fairly adequate.

Adequate, that is, if you like not eating.

So, after we discovered — and it took only one day of fasting to find this out — that we could afford hamburger meat which you could get in those days for about 30 cents a pound but which was more fat than meat, we saved our surplus for several weeks and plunked down a buck 98 for a little tome called "101 Ways to Prepare Hamburger."

"Does this mean we're not having lobster for supper?" hubby asked when I flaunted my new money-saver.

Originally, I assumed, being newly-wed and bright-eyed and eager and proud of hubby and optimistic his income would eventually rise to at least the level of unemployment payments, that there was no way I'd stay poor long enough to have to try all 101 of those gawd-awful hamburger recipes.

That was eight years ago. The other day, my hardback copy of "101 Ways to Prepare Hamburger" a tattered shred in my hand, I asked my local bookstore owner if he could reorder. It's a book I'd better hang onto.

Hubby, by now, is brainwashed. Somehow, I've managed to keep him in the dark on the financial situation of the family and the financial situation at the grocery store.

As we passed by the meat counter the other day on one of the few shopping trips when he accompanies me, we paused long enough for hubby to glance at the well-stocked beef rack.

"What are these things?" hubby asked gingerly lifting a T-bone steak from the cooler.

"That's pork," I lied. "And you don't like pork."

When I first started this column I promised to share recipes and housekeeping hints. You've gotten a taste of my housekeeping, and the above tells you something of my recipes.

Nevertheless, I'd like to have your recipes because somewhere out there in Canyon is a family that knows a T-bone steak from a pork chop, that enjoys fish and an occasional vegetable. They're the ones who can benefit from your recipes.

Good recipes are hard to find. They're like so-called good housekeeping hints I've seen in women's magazines. Some of the housekeeping hints I'll never use, for example:

1. "Rotate your ice cubes so they won't absorb odors in your freezer." I can't keep an ice cube in my freezer long enough to freeze solid in the middle let alone absorb odors. Can't you just picture a little chart on your freezer door, and checking off tray one, two, or three 25 times a day for rotation.
2. "To give baby's diapers a nice fresh scent, hang them in the sun." That's simple enough. But consider this: By the time you've dressed three kids and yourself, carried out the playpen for the baby, toys for the toddler, toys for the five-year-old, the diapers and the baby, and located the clothespins the five-year-old and toddler haven't sprung, then hang out the diapers in between taking the kids out and off of things or things out or off the kids, well, you wonder if it's really worth it. Does the baby notice that fresh smell? Nope. Does she unfreshen that diaper in the usual five minutes? You betcha. A lot of hot water and a little borax will get those diapers as fresh as they need to be. No offense to the baby, but why cast your pearls before swine?

Recipes are like that, too. Some are absolutely phenomenal. But, there aren't a lot that I know about to help out busy folks.

One too-fancy cookbook says to take two cups of cold boiled left-over shrimp. Now, when's the last time you had two cups of cold boiled left-over shrimp in your refrigerator? The same book also suggests a nice recipe to use to get rid of your left-over ice cream. Yes, left-over ice cream.

The same book tells you to "have the maid serve appetizers while you put the finishing touches on your first course."

Another cookbook encourages you to try cooking a roast on the manifold of your car and advocates sneaking green vegetables into the kids' peanut butter sandwiches.

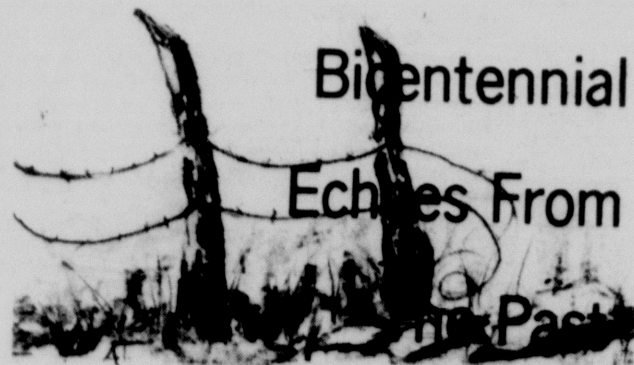

So here I am, pleading with you. How about sharing some of your house-keeping tips and recipes?

Just because you cook your favorite casserole three times a week doesn't mean the rest of us have heard of it.

I plan to use them in this column and I'm also planning to put them into a cookbook along with the help of a good friend, excellent cook and organized lady, Linda Shelly.

Send them to me: Susan Wilson, 1105 5th Ave., Canyon, Tex. 79015.

And, if you've got any good ones for hamburger, hubby will appreciate it, too.

share it with us here.

SOURDOUGH STARTER AND BREAD

1 c. whole milk
1/2 T. sugar
1 1/2 t. salt
one-third c. white cornmeal
Scald milk. Remove from fire and stir in the sugar, salt and cornmeal. Mix thoroughly and place mixture in large fruit jar or pitcher. Cover the container and place it in a pan of water which is hot to the hand (120 degrees F.) Allow to stand in a warm place for 7 or 8 hours or overnight. Make a soft dough by adding the following to the fermented mixture:

1 c. warm water
2 c. flour
1 T. sugar

Beat thoroughly. Place the sponge in the hot water bath and allow it to rise until it is very light and full of bubbles. The resulting mixture is called starter. You will need to keep the starter refrigerated, but must not freeze it.

To set the starter, pour it into a mixing bowl and add lukewarm water or potato water. Then stir in flour to make a thick sponge. Cover and set in a warm place overnight. The next morning you will need to spoon the starter for the next batch into a jar with a tight fitting lid and put it back into the refrigerator.

After taking the starter out of the sponge, stir in about 1/2 c. melted margarine, salad oil or bacon drippings, and 2 T. of sugar for each 2 c. of sponge, then add flour to make a stiff dough.

Grease the top of the dough and sides of the bowl, cover and allow to rise until light — approx. double in bulk. Turn the dough out onto a well floured board and knead about 10 minutes. Then shape into loaves and let rise a second time.

When the loaves are about double in bulk, place into a hot oven 425-450 degrees for about 12 min. Then reduce temperature to 350 degrees and bake until golden brown.

Fundraising Organized To Aid Leukemia Victim

The plight of a young man's fight against leukemia is being answered by the city of Canyon with local efforts being organized to raise funding to meet the medical expenses presently being incurred in the continuing battle faced by Ricardo Valdez and his family.

Ricky's current hospital and doctor bills are in excess of $5,000 and trust accounts for his needs are established at both the First National Bank and West Texas State Bank in Canyon. The two accounts had a total of $512.47 on deposit for the youth at mid-afternoon Friday.

As young Ricky Valdez, 11, goes to sleep tonight his friends in the Canyon area are setting plans in motion to raise the necessary funds for his continued treatment.

On Friday and Saturday the fraternity boys of Lambda Chi Alpha were holding a "rock-a-thon" with $200 pledged from businesses and individuals as they began manning rocking chairs non-stop for 27 hours raising funds for Ricky and his family.

Monday evening at the Episcopal Center, 2516 4th Avenue, the Alpha Phi Omega national service fraternity members will serve a Mexican Dinner to the public from 5:30 until 7:30 p.m. with 50 per cent of profits going toward the Valdez Fund. The dinner is $2.50 per plate.

On Saturday a "car wash" is to be held at the Kwik Kar Wash, in the 2200 block of First Avenue, with members of the Buffalo Breakers CB Club doing the work and the total funds received going to the Valdez Fund. Car wash hours will be 1-6 p.m. Sept. 20 with a charge of $2.00 per car. In-city automobiles will be picked up and delivered to the car wash with a call to 655-4094 evenings this week or all day Saturday, Sept. 20.

A community wide "flea market" has been scheduled for Sept. 27-28 at the Canyon Junior Livestock Building to benefit the Valdez Fund with all clubs and individuals invited to participate. The "flea market" is being arranged through the Buffalo Breakers CB Club which has pledged 100% of its own profits to aid the youth.

The "flea market" for other clubs and individuals to display and sell their wares will be coordinated through Mrs. Charlie Miller, 655-3982; Mrs. Sam Richard, 655-7240; Mrs. Greg Root, 655-7406 and Mrs. Dean Anderson, 655-9936.

Clubs and individuals may set up their own booth and furnish their own salesman at the effort with a requested minimum of 25% of proceeds to go to the Valdez Fund.

Other than those clubs and individuals who plan to operate their own booth at the community affair other donated items will be accepted by the Buffalo Breakers with all profits from the sale of these donated items going to the Valdez fund effort.

The "flea market" booth space may be arranged by contacting one of the aforementioned coordinators and all types of merchandise are welcomed for the sale. Booth set ups will be held from 1-6 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 26, and merchandise not sold must be removed from the building by 6:30 p.m. on the final sale day.

Gift items, garage sale merchandise, appliances, baked goods and other items will be available to the public during the "flea market" sale hours on Sept. 27-28.

Commission

To Discuss Litter

Garbage and litter on county roads will be a main topic of discussion Monday for Randall County commissioners.

Commissioners meet at 1 p.m. at the county courthouse in Canyon.

Mrs. Audrey Bruse, county tax collector, is slated to discuss additional space for her offices with commissioners. She is also expected to discuss voter registration requirements as stipulated by a new state law.

She has told commissioners in the past that the new voter registration law could cost the county more than $35,000 to implement.

Unfulfilled Dreams

A young man who wants to "see the mountains, look at deer running and someday take a vacation trip to Red River" will not get the opportunity to fulfill his youthful dreams as he faces a bout with advanced leukemia.

Ricardo Valdez, a fifth grade elementary school student, observed his 11th birthday on the fifth of August and only weeks before had been diagnosed with leukemia.

Ricardo is the son of Brito Valdez, who migrated to the United States in 1953 from Old Mexico. In the fall of 1963 Brito Valdez returned to Old Mexico and married his wife, Lupe, then brought her to the U.S. to establish their home.

The Valdez family holds passports to the "land of opportunity" and reside north of Canyon where they are employed in the farming operations of the Bruce Wynns.

Previous to learning of their son's leukemic condition, Mrs. Valdez had worked with the Yum Yum Tree Restaurant in Canyon and left her employment at Irwin Greenhouses, Inc. in order to care for Ricky's needs.

Aside from weekly trips to an Amarillo hospital for cobalt treatment by doctors, Ricky spends his time at home playing indoors with an electric auto race set purchased by his father and sharing ideas with his two younger brothers.

This week Ricky's face broadened with a smile as he received a special Mickey Mouse radio with earphones so that he can "listen to his heart's content to the teenage music of America" which he loves. The radio was presented to the young lad by Carmen Hernandez of the Canyon Community Family Services Association and had been provided by Shell's Pharmacy for the lad.

The CCPSA is in constant contact with the Valdez family, via Mrs. Hernandez, and currently a number of city clubs, organizations and individuals are raising funds in numerous ways to offset the rising medical bills faced by the Valdez family.

Ricky has spent more than 30 days in hospitals since first learning of his disease in late July and received numerous other medical treatments until the current doctor and hospital bills for the family are nearing a $5,000 debt, noted Mrs. Hernandez.

Ricky, himself, was the first to know that "something was awfully wrong" when he had not recuperated from a mid-summer bicycle accident in three weeks. He had thought little of the broken collarbone at the time but when massive swelling began in his shoulder and neck and pains were being felt throughout his body he complained again to his mother. He was returned to local doctors who transferred him to an Amarillo hospital for treatment where the massive infection left him in a coma for nine days and doctors discovered that his youthful body was in the advanced stages of leukemia.

Randell 4-H Club

Discusses Tours

Randell 4-H Club met Tuesday, Sept. 9, in the Farm Bureau Building to discuss possible tours for members of the group in coming months.

A number of reports were given at the meeting including a report on the summer county dress revue given by Debbie Hales; a report on the electric camp given by Irene Grabber and Debbie Hales.

Election of club officers was set for the next meeting of the club.

A recreation period and refreshments were the concluding items of the meeting which was attended by Becky Freeman, Irene and Tom Grabber, Debbie Hales, and David Winters. New club members present were Myrl Jacobs, Shane Brown and Cindy and Billy Ferguson. Adult leaders present were Mesdames Hales, Winters and Jacobs.

Jack Anderson To Speak Here

Pulitzer Prize winner Jack Anderson, nationally-known columnist, will speak at 8 p.m. September 17 in the West Texas State University Activities Center Ballroom.

Tickets are available at the AC information desk at $2 for adults and $1 for students of high school age and younger. WTSU students will be admitted free with ID and tickets for WTSU faculty and staff members are $1. Anderson is sponsored by the Student Activities Council.

Anderson was the first to report that the CIA, FBI, Secret Service and other law enforcement agencies were spying on law-abiding Americans. He began four years ago quoting from files kept on citizens by the agencies.

He was also the first to report that the CIA had attempted to assassinate foreign leaders. He gave names, dates and details of six assassination attempts against Fidel Castro of Cuba in a series of columns in January, 1971.

During Watergate, Anderson implicated John Mitchell and H. R. Haldeman and was the first to report that hush money had been offered to Watergate defendants.

He was the first to report that former President Nixon had no advance knowledge of the Watergate break-in, but had participated in the cover-up. Publication of the grand jury transcripts by Anderson gave testimony of the Watergate crimes.

Anderson's reporting also led to the Senate hearings on the International Telephone and Telegraph Company.

After proving that Nixon and Henry Kissinger had lied to Congress and the public about US favoritism to Pakistan in the India-Pakistan covenant, Anderson received the Pulitzer Prize in 1972.

Born in Long Beach, California, Anderson, 52, got his first newspaper job at 12 for the "Murray Eagle" in the Salt Lake City suburbs, where he was reared, for $7 weekly. He was working on the city desk at the Salt Lake "Tribune" by the time he reached 18.

From 1942 to 1943, Anderson, a practicing Mormon, served as a full time missionary in the Southern states.

During World War II, he served as a cadet officer in the Merchant Marine when he resigned to accept credentials as a civilian war correspondent. After accompanying a band of Chinese guerrillas behind Japanese lines, Anderson was inducted in China into the Army after the armistice. He was assigned to the Shanghai edition of the Army newspaper, "Stars and Stripes."

After Drew Pearson's death in 1969, Anderson took over the Washington Merry-Go-Round column which appears in more than 970 newspapers.

He is Washington editor of "Parade Magazine," does a daily radio broadcast over the Mutual Network and has a syndicated television news commentary.

Other SAC events will include the National Shakespeare Company from New York November 9 in the WTSU Field House. They will perform Shakespeare's "The Tempest."

Game Ends Scoreless

Canyon's hapless Eagles blew two field goal attempts and their best field position of the night Friday as they failed to put any points on the scoreboard and played the Borger Bulldogs to a 0-0 tie.

The Eagles' second outing of the season saw the home-town team rack up considerable ground and air yardage, a respectable number of first downs, but no points to show for the effort, staged before a thousand rain-drenched fans in the Borger High School stadium.

While showing more spirit and drive than it did against Lubbock Monterey last weekend, the Eagle offense found fumbles and costly and ill-timed penalties their downfall.

The Canyon defense, as against Monterey, proved the bright point of the game, holding Borger attacks repeatedly to set up potential Eagle offense scoring drives.

The defense proved its mettle during the first series of Bulldog downs early in the first quarter of play.

Taking the ball after a Ricky Cooper fumble on the 43, the Bulldog offense worked down to the 12-yard line before the Eagle defense buckled down to business. Four consecutive plays from the 15 proved no gain for the Bulldogs and Quarterback Brett Lang was caught on the 15 by the big Eagle line to end the series with 4:16 remaining in the quarter.

Canyon fans, watching the game from under blankets and umbrellas as rain washed the field, saw their Eagles take the ball from the 15 all the way to the Borger 10 before the Bulldog defense also came to life.

It took 18 plays for Canyon to eat up yards to the goal line with Jonathon Hull and Ronnie Whitney, playing his first varsity game under Coach Deane Wright, taking responsibility for the ground-gaining.

With 8:01 showing on the first half clock, the Eagles were stalled on a third down play when Cooper was hit on a busted play at the 17-yard line for a loss of seven yards.

With the ball set on the 24, Cooper then attempted his first field goal of the night, but the slippery ball glanced from the kicker's foot and rolled into the end zone.

Borger came back from a halftime break with new drive and took the ball from its own 15 all the way to the Canyon 31 before the drive stalled under the pressure of Canyon's defense.

The drive took 18 plays and ate up most of the third quarter clock, but failed when Lang tried to buck through the left side of the Eagle line on a fourth down situation but couldn't pick up the needed yardage to continue the Bulldog momentum.

Canyon took over on the 23 and began the trek upfield, a task which took a dozen plays.

A Borger mishap on a Canyon punt early in the series set the stage for what could have been a scoring drive.

On a fourth down punt, Cooper booted the ball from the 43 to the nine-yard line, but the Bulldog deep man fumbled the ball and Canyon trounced on it to retain possession.

Four downs and the Bulldogs held their ground and on a fourth down situation at the 9, Cooper again went in to try a field goal. This one was off to the left and declared no good as the clock showed 11:57 remaining in the game.

During the fourth period, Allen Shankles went in to quarterback the Eagles in place of Cooper, but his success was also limited to ground and clock-eating.

The final Canyon drive began with only 3:41 showing on the clock as Shankles took to the air in seven of 12 plays, the best of which was a pass to John Prater up the middle for 23 yards.

With 13 seconds on the clock, Shankles lobbed a ball on a fourth-down play from the 28 to nobody in the flat and the ball went over on downs.

Canyon tallied 11 first downs during the night compared to nine for Borger, and the Eagles had 173 total yards compared to 154 for the Bulldogs.

Leading ground-gainer for Canyon was Whitney with 81 yards in 15 carries. Cooper attempted four passes, but completed only one for seven yards. Shankles tried 10 passes, connecting on three for 29 yards.

Canyon was penalized a total of 55 yards during the night.

A Borger Bulldog running back applies the breaks during the Friday night clash with the Canyon Eagles. Eagle linebacker Wayne Robinson, 55, closed in to make the tackle with help from Lyndon Brazile, 29. The Eagles and Bulldogs battled to a scoreless standoff.

Ninth Grade Teams Shut Out Foes

The two Canyon Junior High School ninth grade football teams displayed high scoring offensive attacks along with stubborn defensive play as both shutout their opponents Thursday.

The Purple Team bombed Boys Ranch 24-0 while the White Team held Hereford LaPlata scoreless enroute to a 30-0 victory.

For the White Team, running back Tracy Byrd scored twice with runs of 45 yards and 12 yards. A Steve Schmidt pass to Todd Nix covered 30 yards and another touchdown. Running back Mike Moore rounded out the scoring with a 20 yard sprint over the goal. Tony Davis scored a two-point PAT.

Moore and Byrd were named as the outstanding offensive backs of the game. Steve Thompson and Jay Friemel shared the offensive lineman of the game award. On defense, Keith Melton was designated the outstanding lineman and Terry Tension was named the outstanding defensive back.

The outstanding game player was Steve Schmidt. The War Eagle Awards went to Steve Thompson for his offensive effort and to Terry Tension for his defensive play.

In the White Team's 30-0 rout of LaPlata, Lonnie Shaw scored two touchdowns and one point after while gaining 117 total yards. Dan Gerald's 41 total yards also included two TD's and a successful point after.

The outstanding offensive lineman was Jimmy Green with the outstanding defensive lineman award going to Dan Gerald. Gerald also shared the outstanding game player award with Lonnie Shaw.

"Outstanding defensive play by the entire team contributed to our overall success. The defense was led by Jimmy Green, Dan Gerald, Terry Rudd, Chuck Scott and Russell 'Too Tall' Parker," coach Bobby Byrd commented.

Thursday, the Purple Team plays Amarillo Christian at 4 p.m. in Amarillo and the White Team travels to Pampa for a contest at the same time.

Tentative plans for the 1975-76 athletic banquet were discussed during the session. Also discussed was the possibility of raising funds to acquire an athletic bus.

terms. Jacobs, following the meeting, said of Fuqua's money offer "it's getting a little better all the time."

Earlier in the year Fuqua had offered $50,000 for the Canyon board's approval of the de-annexation.

Jacobs confirmed that the amount of money developers such as Fuqua are willing to put up to have their land de-annexed from the Canyon district will be a definite factor in the school board's consideration of such requests.

He referred to a statement made some time ago by Keeling during an open board meeting that the Canyon board would not be interested in allowing school lands to be annexed by Amarillo "unless it is advantageous to our school district."

"This is one term of being advantageous," Jacobs said of the monetary offers.

Committee member Ed Wieck of Umbarger termed Fuqua's proposal "a good offer" which "deserves our consideration."

Wieck strongly defended the apparent desire of the Canyon board to accept money in return for the affirmative vote.

"I sure don't think we should take the attitude we're not deserving of the money," he said. "They want it bad enough to give the money."

"My feeling about it is that it is good business."

Keeling, also a committee member, said he sees some merit in the idea of initiating a set formula to decide on how much developers might pay or donate to the Canyon district in return

Annex. . .

The school land annexation issue has become a heated point of discussion in recent months as Amarillo developers have called on the local school board to agree to future annexations of land by Amarillo school district.

The local board has generally been disinclined to go along with annexations and is now appealing a favorable ruling on an annexation request by the Randall County Board of School Trustees last November.

A South Amarillo developer earlier Thursday offered the Canyon district $100,000 to release 650 acres of development land for annexation by Amarillo. The board has not acted on the request.

The Sound Financing Committee, which Wooten said is nearing completion of its assigned task, will meet again Sept. 25.

Another committee, the Quality Education Committee, is to meet Tuesday night.

ting dean of the College of Education, Dr. Myron Dees, head of the department of health, physical education and recreation, Dr. Robert Burton, head of the department of geology and anthropology and Bailey.

In addition to releasing the nature of the charges against him as outlined by Watkins, Caballero a week ago also released the names of those who will testify against him during the hearing. They include Dr. John Green, dean of the School of Fine Arts, Bitsy Downing of the WTSU business office, Dr. Ray A. Malzahn, vice president for academic affairs, and Dave Rindlisbacher and Darold Smith, art instructors.

Caballero has not released the names of persons who will be witnesses in his behalf.

Caballero resigned in January, but denounced his resignation in a formal presentation to university regents in June.

In an August session, regents reinstated Caballero but also established a procedure to be followed should administrators again ask him to resign as department chairman.

In the latter part of August, Caballero received a letter from Watkins informing the veteran educator he would not be recommended to continue as art department head.

In compliance with the regents' mandate, Caballero then set in motion the due process procedure which will culminate Sept. 25 with the open hearing. Regents have retained the right to hear any appeal following the hearing committee's decision.

County rural fire plan, said Thursday he had contacted Staff late Wednesday.

He said he will continue to insist that Amarillo participate in the county-wide fire plan, which went into effect about four months ago. The plan as it is now working involves contracts with the City of Canyon, which is the central clearing-house for rural fires, the City of Happy, Umbarger, Bushland, and Lake Tanglewood.

Stiff told those who attended the joint session Wednesday the city did not want to be responsible for deciding what is and is not a major fire.

Under the Randall County proposal, Amarillo fire units would respond to rural structural fires only and would refer grass or car or similar fires to the Canyon fire department for action.

Lindsey said he and County Commissioner John Fulgenzi are to meet possibly this week with Stiff and his staff to negotiate a settlement to the issue.

The current contract between Amarillo and the county, which provides for the $801 per call fee, ends Oct. 1.

The commissioner said that because of the general atmosphere of the joint Wednesday he said, the number of prisoners and the subsequent requirement for new prison facilities would cost a staggering amount.

Lynch said if prosecutors don't like today's parole system, they should opt not for a system which demands that prisoners do straight prison time as set by judge or jury, but should call for a system which would provide for continual assessment of a prisoner's rehabilitation.

He suggested implementation of a system which provides unstated sentences for felons, a system where offenders would be sentenced to serve in the state prison for a term of from no years to life, with release to be determined according to the prisoner's rehabilitation.

Under such a system, Lynch said, trained psychologists and penal officers, aware of the games convicts play to gain release, would determine when a man could be released. Then, if the man did not make good, he could be sent back to again face an indeterminate length sentence until he made good again.

A parole system would be necessary, he said, to supervise and control the released convict in society.

Boehnings Have Second Son Here

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Boehning of Rt. 2, Box 148, Canyon announce the September 2 arrival of a son, Tony Lee, at Palo Duro Hospital in Canyon. The baby boy weighed 9 pounds, 7 ounces and measured 22 1/2 inches at birth.

The Boehnings have an older son, Shawn Allen, age 6 and the father is a community farmer. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Tidwell of LaCasa Canyon Nursing Home here.

session, he is more optimistic than he has been in the past that a settlement can be worked out.

"It was the best combined meeting I've attended," he said. "Fire was the only issue and that's the reason it was a good meeting. We talked about the problem and not about personalities."

Lindsey said he would personally not oppose adopting Stiff's proposal that the county pay a set fee of $10,000 annually for Amarillo's fire services.

But, he noted that with or without Amarillo's participation in the rural fire plan, fire services will be made available to those areas outside the Amarillo city limits north of Hollywood Road.

"I think they're ready to talk because I think they realize it's to their interest as well as ours to work something out," he said.

Rural fire fighting in the county has been a problem and a sore point for local commissioners for about two years. Two years ago, Amarillo began charging a fee of $846 per call to fight rural fires, but lowered the fee to $801 last year.

Potter County commissioners have taken an altogether different approach. They have purchased several thousand dollars worth of fire fighting equipment and have established volunteer fire units in various parts of their county to answer calls.
